

CASE STUDY

TransUnion Reduces Time Spent on Due Diligence From Days to Seconds

An AmLaw 200 law firm who provides quality legal services across the US for more than 125 years represents clients in more than 20 industries.

CHALLENGE

Accessing fresh information on individuals and businesses as needed was critical as due diligence and research must be conducted quickly and with confidence. The firm was dissatisfied with the level of detail received from various data providers it used, as well as the speed at which information was supplied. Attempting complex queries was extremely difficult; researchers spent hours or days gathering pertinent information and ensuring it wasn't outdated, incomplete or incorrect.

SOLUTION

Using TLOxp[®], part of TransUnion's TruLookup[™] product line, the firm was able to find people, assets and hidden connections in seconds. Access to TransUnion's database — containing billions of records from proprietary and trusted alternative sources — enabled the firm to conduct due diligence quickly and confidently and make contact with the right person with less effort.

RESULTS

Even with only a few known details used to search, the powerful TLOxp database provided fresh data — exactly when the firm needed it.

Today, TLOxp's data fusion technology continues to help minimize research time and effort, and speed up investigations.

The law firm has a vast amount of data — updated consistently and sorted in ways that are easy to understand and use — constantly at its disposal.

Using TLOxp, the firm now is able to:

- Quickly find contact information
- Receive data that's fresh and recent
- Easily navigate the user-friendly interface
- Find information missed when working with separate reports
- Better locate witnesses
- Uncover hidden relationships and connections

To learn more about how TransUnion can help save you time and money, visit tlo.com/legal-professionals.